Our Team

We are lucky to have a fantastic team of staff who are passionate about making a difference to local people in Northern Ireland.

We regularly see examples of our staff 'living' our values of Generous, Thriving and Together.

Generous - We encourage generosity in everything we do; we look out for each other; we deal with everyone with compassion, empathy and understanding. We are flexible in how we work with staff, donors and grantees.

Thriving - We see the potential within both our staff and the communities we work in and are committed to help both reach their full potential.

Together - We will only make the change we want to see together. We value participation, working with others and bringing people together.

Over the past year, we have continued to focus on these values and embed them in our culture. We expect a lot from our staff, so we look after them as well as we can, by offering good terms and conditions of employment, encouraging professional development and supporting staff to look after their health and wellbeing. We are very proud of the way our team has worked together, particularly during the Coronavirus Crisis, to connect people who care to causes that matter and support the most disadvantaged communities in Northern Ireland.
Encouraging generosity

- £3.9 million in New Income was generated during the period mainly in response to our coronavirus appeal.
- New donor panels, engagements and consultations were progressed with our match funding scheme with DfC (Hobson, Nappin, Cross, McCall and NW Funds).
- New funds negotiated and launched included PwC, CR & New Needs.
- A series of engagements with grantees, staff, trustees and donors highlighted impact and informed future strategy e.g. Domestic Violence / Ethical Investments / Effects of Coronavirus on the community.
- Strengthened engagements with local and national funders around learning, knowledge and next stages of Coronavirus response.
- Facebook advert raising awareness about our grants reached over 3,500 new audiences.
People on the edges

- We provided translation services to help refugees and asylum seekers affected by the crisis to access services.
Building sustainable communities

- No Child Goes Hungry Programme supported by Comic Relief which sought to support small scale community based responses addressing potential food poverty in families with children under the age of 10 who availed on free-school meals or where household income had been reduced due to the Covid-19 virus. 32 applications were received with 19 grants awarded to the value of £44,425.
- Secured £800,000 of additional support from Comic Relief. Working with Comic Relief this additional funding was allocated to provide an initial investment of £470,000 to kick start the New Needs Fund. Working with Comic Relief staff, the balance was combined with the remaining Comic Relief grants from the main contract to develop a Community Support Programme valued at £700,000. Work on the design of the Grant + Programme took place during the quarter to facilitate official launch scheduled for Monday 27th July.
Thriving after the conflict

- During Apr-Jun many of the communities and organisations we support under this thematic area were heavily engaged in coordinating and managing emergency responses to Covid 19 and phenomenal leadership was demonstrated.
- The ACT Initiative repurposed an ice cream van with essential items, bringing the shops to the residents street by street.
- Creggan Enterprises hired a taxi to deliver much needed food parcels and by doing so was able to provide the taxi driver with income that he would have otherwise lost.
- We also saw some fantastic cross community efforts in North Belfast in the search for Noah Donohoe with the HUBB Resource Centre (a PIP & Social Justice grantee) being used as a base for search & rescue teams, PSNI and the Noah’s family.
- We had two workshops with all the PUL groups funded under PIP to help share information and support actions and engagement in the lead up to 11th July in an effort to manage community tensions.
- Through engagement with the NIO we also secured a meeting with SoS.
Innovation & voice

- Civic Innovation – this programme moved online and continued during lockdown with 13 cross-organisational teams continuing to develop their initiatives to build community voice across Northern Ireland on themes including climate change, community relations, community planning, local resource allocation, social welfare, Irish language and victim support. In June 12 of the teams received their initial ‘prototype grants’ of £5,000 each to enable them to scope, research and test their ideas with communities and stakeholders, enabling them to gather lessons and adapt their projects before applying for a larger ‘main grant’ of up to £50,000 at the end of 2020.

- Techies in Residence – this unique digital innovation programme for the VCSE sector relaunched for its 5th cycle in June thanks to a £200,000 grant from Comic Relief. The programme will have 6 places this year and applications open in July.

- Pressure Group Fund – one further £1,000 grant was made in May, to the Enda Dolan Foundation.

We continue to process more applications, particularly as a result of our covid focused funds, than we have done in previous years. Our new systems and processes have really been invaluable in terms of supporting the administration of these funds, and ensuring that we can deal with the high volume of applications. We should continue to adapt and use different, and more efficient ways of working, to enable us to deliver on this increasing demand, and to build on the profile we have gained in recent months as a flexible funder.

We are embarking on a learning journey with IVAR, where we will have an opportunity to share our success and challenges administering our emergency fund. There is an opportunity for the Foundation to lead the way in terms of grant making expertise and best practice.
We are holding more regular catch ups with other NI funders, and this has helped us all think about how we might work better together, and how we might prepare for a similar crisis situation in the future, and perhaps think more strategically around who and what we support in terms of emergency financial provision.

We continue to encourage and inspire generosity, particularly with the Coronavirus Community Fund, which grew from a small pot of £70,000 to over £2 million, in a few weeks. In addition, both new and existing donors and fundholders, have contributed to supporting the development of our second phase of covid related support, through the New Needs Fund, and the Comic Relief Community Support Programme.
The commitment and generosity of those people on the ground, who have helped deliver the emergency support, has been really quite significant. Many of those people have only become involved in voluntary activity for the first time. There is a real opportunity to build on this community activism, and support those people to continue to engage in community activity. The Foundation plans to develop a network of our grantees, and evaluate this response, with a view to building on this momentum, and to continue to encourage this generosity of spirit.

- Interestingly Mid and East Antrim had the highest success rate during this quarter, yet has been continually rated in the bottom in terms of both receipt, and success of applications. This is good news, and perhaps reflective of the organisations working in that area, many of whom have good capacity, and who were able to meet emerging needs during the covid crisis.

- Antrim and Newtownabbey remains low, and we should therefore continue to try and connect with community infrastructure there, to ensure that we raise awareness of our funds in this area.
